MILAPFEST

Milapfest, in its thirtieth year of existence is as culturally relevant as ever, taking Indian arts to newer heights internationally.

Sarvam Foundation, in its fourth year since inception has gained a fair share of relevance and fame both in India and abroad.

These two organisations found each other by the sheer force of positive and fresh vibrations - across seas and continents! Essentially what unites us is to 'make a difference to the Society we live in. To bring people together in the knowledge that arts matter and that they have the power to demolish and diminish the troubles the human society faces around the world.

Arts unite the human spirit in recognition that we are all essentially one race with a common future and a glorious heritage.

We sincerely believe that India, this marvellous ancient civilisation has a pivotal role to play as a spiritual leader in the years to come. Increasingly, the world needs a healthy intervention of spiritual wealth and guidance and INDIA, the cradle of many a civilisation has the perfect balance of the traditional and the modern to lead the way. The performing arts- that blessed haven of inner wealth -abound in this country-this Calendar is an endeavour to showcase some of our youngest, oldest and brightest stars from the Classical world. We are so glad you are welcoming these ancient art forms into your homes and thereby into your very soul. They help us set free-free from the shackles of our own mind and heart.

We wish you a blessed 70th year of India's independence. Jai Hind.

In Celebration,

Prashant Nayak & Nehha Bhatnagar

(www.milapfest.org & www.sarvamfoundation.in)

Nehha Bhatnagar

Nehha is the youngest arts impresario in India. Based in Delhi, she started Sarvam Foundation almost four years ago at the age of 25 to unleash a wave of inspiration for the classical arts of India. Nehha Bhatnagar herself, is an empaneled Bharatnatyam artiste of the Indian Council for Cultural Relations.

A senior disciple of Padma Bhushan awardee, Dr. Saroja Vaidyanathan, Nehha has performed at major festivals in India and abroad. As a speaker on the TEDx circuit, Nehha is also a Curator & Organizer of the TEDx TughlaqRd, and annual Delhi event which brings together thought-leaders of today and tomorrow. She also mentors and speaks at youth forums and conferences around the country. Neha holds a Masters degree in International Relations.
